My Song For You- Marta Eggerth and Jan Kiepura Between Two Worlds
Online Exhibition Opening and Virtual Q&A

October 20, 2020 12PM EDT
Austrian Cultural Forum New York

October 12, 2020 (New York, NY) – The Austrian Cultural Forum New York (ACFNY) is pleased to invite media representatives and journalists to the online opening ceremony of the exhibition at the University of Music and Performance (mdw) in Vienna, “My Song For You – Marta Eggerth and Jan Kiepura” on October 20, 2020 at 12 PM EDT via this ACFNY YouTube Channel link or alternatively on the University of Music and Performance Vienna link. This exhibition honors the stage and film careers of the dream couple Kiepura/Eggerth, who together escaped Nazi-occupied Austria in 1938, having created a musical legacy that would revolutionize opera and operetta. The show is curated by Susanne Korbelt of the University of Graz/Center for Jewish Studies, and is presented by the exil.arte Center at the University of Music and Performance in Vienna (mdw). Immediately following the virtual opening event, at 1 PM EDT, the ACFNY will host an exclusive online Q&A zoom webinar with guest speakers including the exhibition’s curator, opera expert Ken Benson and Marjan Kiepura, son of Martha Eggerth and Jan Kiepura.

My Song for You is an exhibition remembering the musical legacies of Marta Eggerth (1912-2013), the Hungarian-born soprano, and the Polish tenor Jan Kiepura (1902-1966). Following the “Anschluss” with Nazi Germany in 1938, Marta Eggerth and Jan Kiepura were forced to turn their backs on Vienna, the city where they had met, fallen in love and both had come to fame. Eggerth and Kiepura moved to the United States, where they shared the same fate with countless other European artists, librettists, composers and musicians. Many followed them into exile, but many others were arrested, imprisoned and murdered. Much of their work, known as exil arte, were lost or destroyed, including many of Eggerth and Kiepura's movies. Having lost so much and especially dear friends and colleagues, Kiepura and Eggerth's careers continued in the United States with Jan Kiepura singing leading tenor roles at the Metropolitan Opera and both starring in The Merry Widow on Broadway. They went on to become the leading exponents of The Merry Widow, having performed it some two thousand times in five languages, as well as many other operettas and concerts. They had devoted followings amongst the émigré community and captivated new generations of audiences to opera and operetta. Their legacies remained vivid in the memories of millions throughout Europe.

The exhibition at the University of Music and Performance in Vienna presents the collection of posters, videos, correspondence and memorabilia of Marta Eggerth and Jan Kiepura, and also captures the stories of around 100 of the couple's friends and colleagues, including Fritz Grünbaum, Emmerich Kálmán, Erich Wolfgang Korngold, Lotte Lehmann, and Billy Wilder.

The live-streamed opening ceremony at the University of Music and Performance in Vienna \(mdw\) will include welcome statements from Wolfgang Sobotka, the President of the Austrian Parliament, Ulrike Sych, the President of the University of Music and Performance in Vienna (mdw), Gerold Gruber, founder of exil.arte and head of the exil.arte Center of the mdw, as well as curator Susanne Korbel. They will be joined online in New York by ACFNY Director Michael Haider and Marjan Kiepura, Marta Eggerth's and Jan Kiepura's son, his wife Jane Knox-Kiepura, and the New York City based opera expert, Ken Benson. In Vienna, the world-famous tenor Ramón Vargas will give a special live performance dedicated to this occasion. The entire online opening event will be in English.

The one-hour ceremony will be followed by a private Q&A webinar session for media representatives present via ZOOM. This Q&A session will include guest speakers Marjan Kiepura, Jane Knox-Kiepura, curator Susanne Korbel, exilarte founder Gerold Gruber and Ken Benson.

Media representatives interested in attending the Q&A session via ZOOM are invited to contact MaryKat Hoesser, Head of Communications at the ACFNY, at mary-katerina.hoesser@bmeia.gv.at for registration no later than 15 October 2020.

ABOUT GUEST SPEAKERS

Ken Benson frequently acts as lecturer, interviewer and writer on the subject of opera. A long time regular panelist and host of the Metropolitan Opera broadcasts, he has also interviewed opera icons such as Stephanie Blythe and Jonas Kaufmann, and given lectures on Wagner's Ring Cycle on the stage of the Met. For 25 years, Benson headed his own Division as Vice-President at Columbia Artists Management, Inc., where he developed the careers of some of the leading singers and stage directors of the time, and earned the respect of his colleagues in opera companies, symphony orchestras, recital series and festivals throughout the US and internationally.

Dr. Gerold Gruber studied musicology and art history at the University of Vienna as well as singing at the mdw-University of music and performing arts Vienna. Since 1984 he has been a member of the Institute for Musicology and Interpretation Research at the mdw. His work focuses on Austrian music of the 18th - 21st century, methods of musical analysis and music by ostracized composers. In 2006 he founded the exil.arte society which became a research center and one of the main research centers of the mdw in 2016 (with archive and exhibition space).

Jane Knox-Kiepura was born in Melbourne, Australia and grew up in Europe. She received her BA in International Studies, Magna Cum Laude from Marymount Manhattan College in New York. Mrs. Knox-Kiepura enjoyed assisting Marta Eggerth, at the "Austrian Forum" in New York with her husband, pianist Marjan Kiepura in the 1980's. She was Producer of Marta Eggerth's dual CD "My Life My Song". She also co-produced and narrated "Marta Eggerth and Jan
